

Workshop outline · BE16 · Customers and Products

Product Concerns.

Do your customers have an effective way to raise concerns about your products, and do those concerns drive change? A live session on Future-Fit Break-Even Goal BE16: what the standard requires, where your organization stands, and what to do next.

For
Product teams, R&D, marketing, customer experience and sales leadership. Also legal, regulatory affairs, sustainability and engineering. No prior knowledge of the Benchmark is needed.

Format
Two hours forty-five minutes. Live virtual.

What it is for.

Even a company that markets honestly and sells safe products will hear concerns from customers. The goal asks that they are actively solicited, impartially investigated, and acted on fairly and openly.

The standard is Future-Fit Break-Even Goal BE16, "Product concerns are actively solicited, impartially judged and transparently addressed". In the words of the Benchmark: "A Future-Fit Business gives a voice to its customers by actively soliciting any concerns they have, impartially investigating them, and fairly and transparently acting to address legitimate grievances." The session shows what that requires, how progress is measured on the scale from 0 to 100 percent, and what your team has to do to find out where the organization stands.

It is not a complete benchmarking exercise. A real progress score needs data from every site, and more time than one session allows. Participants leave knowing exactly how to do it.

What you leave with.

- A precise understanding of what BE16 requires, and why the standard is higher than most organizations meet today
- The ability to tell which approaches count under the Benchmark and which do not
- A worked example of the progress score calculation
- A Fitness Snapshot: a directional estimate of where your organization stands on the scale from 0 to 100 percent
- A Game Plan: the questions to ask, the data to gather and the conversations to have, so that real benchmarking can follow
- A Personal Action Plan: three named, time-bound actions
- After the session: a 30-day follow-up pack of four weekly activities
- After the session: the Future-Fit Action Guide for BE16 and a reading

list

Why it matters.

- Customer concerns are the earliest signal of product risk
- Rules on product claims, greenwashing, the circular economy and producer responsibility are tightening
- Marketing, Legal and Product share the accountability and seldom sit in one room
